MARRIAGE.

On the 25th October, at St. Philip's Stepney, ALFRED EDWARD WHEELEY, of Shanghai, eldest son of Mrs. WHEELEY, of Clive-avenue, Hastings, and the late A. A. WHEELEY, of Loughton, Essex, to KATHERINE LOCKHART, second daughter of Wm. CROCKFORD, of Mile-end.

DEATH.

On the 18th October, at 8, Foremount Terrace, Glasgow, JOHN, elder son of John Dudgeon, M.D., Peking, aged 22 years.

The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, November 28th 1898.

HONGKONG has always extended a warm welcome to its Governors. Eleven have come and gone, many carrying with them the hearty good will and esteem of the community, and most of them have left the colony better than they found it. Yesterday the colony welcomed the arrival of Sir HENRY A. BLAKE, G.C.M.G., to its shores with perhaps more enthusiasm than has usually been the case, the gathering at the landing place and the attendance at the Council Chamber being larger than that which has greeted previous Governors. Hongkong, as Sir GEORGE BOWEN found, and lamented, is not a demonstrative place; the residents are a very busy people, and, especially on the day preceding the departure of the mail, are too much glued to their offices and work to attend public functions, even when there is "pomp and circumstance" attaching thereto. Yet a goodly proportion of the mercantile slaves left the dry drudgery of the desk to meet and welcome Sir HENRY and Lady BLAKE. They landed under happy auspices: Queen's weather prevailed for Her Majesty's Representative, and Hongkong smiled its finest on the new-comers. The installation ceremony was conducted with as much dignity as the unwonted crush in the small Council Chamber permitted, and the new Governor made a happy little speech which we trust will prove an augury of future good relations between His Excellency and the colonists. Sir HENRY BLAKE comes to Hongkong with an established reputation as an administrator, and he arrives at a moment when such qualities as we believe he possesses—strength, tact, and judgment—are required in the head of the Government. The Colony has just been considerably enlarged by the inclusion in its boundaries of some two hundred square miles of adjacent territory. The proper administration and development of certain very awkward conditions with which the cession was originally clogged afford opportunity for the exercise of no little ability. The promotion of the industrial growth of the Colony is another matter which can also be assisted or retarded by the head of the Executive. With him, too, lies the ultimate decision as to the measures to be adopted to secure the effective sanitation of the city of Victoria and the final extinction of that unhappily recurrent evil the plague in an epidemic form. At the same time, we cannot refrain from the expression of a hope that the residents—who are very chary of doing anything for themselves—will not expect too much all at once. There are many flaws in the system under which we are governed and it is extremely unlikely that these will all be expunged by any Governor; what we have to hope is that the reign of Sir HENRY BLAKE will be characterised by fearless disregard of individual interests and a steady striving for the common good.

ACCORDING to our Shanghai morning contemporary, telegrams have been received there from Peking to the effect that the Empress Dowager is determined to reinstate LI HUNG-CHANG in the Tsung-li Yamen, and that Russia has given her consent to the reappointment. Another telegraphic announcement runs that the Grand Secretaries LI HUNG-CHANG and HSU HUNG have been granted the privilege of riding in two-bearer sedan chairs within the precincts of the Western Palace Gates as a mark of special grace on the part of the EMPRESS. Whatever truth there may be in these reports, it was well known that the veteran ex-Viceroy of Chihli has all along been in high favour with the Dowager Empress. They have now, it is known, shared in the spoils which LI discovered the way to make out of contracts, for many years, and both have waxed exceeding rich at the expense of the country they have so long misgoverned and hoodwinked. The Old Lady of Peking has found the astute LI a most useful tool and coadjutor, and until Japan appeared on the scene and pricked the bubble which this wily mandarin had blown it was generally believed not only that he was the most powerful mandarin in China but that he had a substantial force, naval and military, behind him. Probably he himself knew pretty well at what value to estimate the resources he had gathered. He was well aware that a sufficient sum of money had been spent on ships, guns, and soldiers to secure a fairly respectable fighting force; he must also have been aware that this force was largely mythical, or that at best it was a very hollow sham. That fact did not, however, greatly trouble the man; he accepted the defeat and disgrace of his country with astonishing philosophy, being chiefly anxious to maintain his personal influence unimpaired. Such was the ignorance and apathy of the Chinese Government, that his reputation, though badly smirched in the eyes of all civilised Powers, was not materially damaged at Peking. One reason for this was that the consequences of his action had not been made plain; the blame was not at once saddled on his shoulders. When at length his enemies were able to demonstrate that he was mainly responsible for the failure of China to make any stand against her plucky antagonist, he did for a time fall under a cloud; but his fall was softened for him, and he was despatched to St. PETERSBURG to represent his country at the coronation of the CZAR. On his return he succeeded, by the judicious use of some of his ill-gotten gains, in regaining much of his old influence, and has ever since no doubt been studiously paving the way for his own return to power. The EMPRESS DOWAGER, who viewed with dismay the reforming projects of the Emperor KWANG SU, was more than ready to receive this ancient servant into renewed favour, has been only too glad to take him into her councils, and though LI may for the moment be in nominal retirement we may be sure that he has all throughout the recent revolution in the capital taken a hand in the drama.

The intimation, therefore, that Her Majesty has resolved upon the reinstatement of LI in the Tsungli Yamen is not surprising. How far, if true, the step would affect the political situation it is not easy to determine. In the first place, if the sanction of Russia for the measure has really been sought, and those of other Treaty Powers been treated as unnecessary, it would be significant and serious. To Great Britain it would be a deliberate and intended affront; to the other Powers a slight. It would be an affront to the former, because it was owing to the demand of her Representative at Peking that LI HUNG-CHANG was dismissed. It would be a slight to the remaining Powers because it would signify that, given Russia's approval of the reinstatement of the degraded Minister, their opinions were not worth consulting. If such a measure has really been resolved upon the Foreign Ministers would be justified in declaring that they had been slighted and refusing to meet the objectionable member at the Yamen. We trust, however, that there is no foundation for the report. The scheming Empress Dowager cannot be prevented from continuing to make LI HUNG-CHANG her adviser-in-chief, but she can be requested not to use him as her mouth-piece at the Council meetings or to openly flaunt him in the eyes of the Ministers as her chief counsellor. The fact that LI is strongly Anglophobe is of course another reason why the British Minister should stick to his guns and decline to act with a man who has done so much to create bad feeling between Great Britain and Russia. If LI HUNG-CHANG is permitted to renew his career of intrigue and corruption, peaceable relations with China for any length of time will become impossible, and sooner or later the Treaty Powers will be involved in the meshes of a new Eastern Question more difficult, more complex, and more dangerous than that of the future of the Balkan peninsula. The situation is already rendered extremely critical by the attitude Russia has taken up in Manchuria; if it is to be complicated by the open recession to almost supreme power of an unscrupulous and insatiably greedy mandarin like LI HUNG-CHANG it will be impossible for Great Britain to steer a pacific course for long at Peking.

There will be a pick up game of Hockey at the Happy Valley on Tuesday next at 4.30 p.m. Members intending to play are requested to notify Mr. E. Robinson, Hon. Sec., Old Club Building, Queen's Road.

We (N. C. Daily News) learn with great regret that the enforcement of the new Land Regulations has been postponed for the present, owing, it is understood, to the Tsungli Yamen not having yet given them its approval.

A Hangchow dispatch to the Universal Gazette states that Governor Liao of Chekiang has received a notification from Director-General Sheng to the effect that the contracts for the railways between Soochow and Hangchow and Ningpo and Shaohsing have been given to Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., and requesting that proper protection and assistance be granted the Company's Engineers, etc., in the prosecution of their work. The Chinese manager of the railways in Chekiang province has also been appointed by the Director-General in the person of Taotai Pan, a son of the late Governor of Kweichou.—N. C. Daily News.

The "Taikoo" steamer Chefoo, Capt. Everist, which arrived at Shanghai on the 19th November from Swatow, reports that on the passage she picked up five Chinese, who were adrift in a sampan and signalling for assistance. They were landed on board the ship in an exhausted condition.

This afternoon on the Happy Valley the Hongkong Football Club will play H. Company of the King's Own Regiment. Kick-off at four o'clock. The Club team will be G. H. N. Sexton, goal; A. S. Anton and H. Pinckney; backs; J. D. Dauby, C. T. Kew, and W. W. Howard, halves; H. B. Bedwell, R.N., H. A. Both, J. F. Noble, E. F. Mackay, and A. R. Lowe, forwards.

The transport Avoca leaves Crete on December 13th, with the 2nd Welsh Fusiliers whom she is taking to Hongkong. She leaves Hongkong on January 16th, with the 1st Battalion Lancaster Regiment, and is due in Singapore on January 21st. She drops the Lancaster men here, and sails on the 22nd, with the West Yorks., who replace the 2nd Highland Light Infantry at Karachi.—Straits Times.

The Universal Gazette states that "it is reported in Imperial Household Department circles at Peking that the Empress Dowager intends to celebrate the thirtieth birthday anniversary of His Majesty Kwang Hsu next year by a Special Act of Grace, to hold extraordinary examinations for literary degrees throughout the Empire." The object of the above, says the N.C. Daily News, is obviously to bring the whole body of the literati on the Empress Dowager's side, and if nothing indeed happens to his Majesty such a step is very likely.

At a cricket tiffin in Perak quite lately Sir Frank Swettenham, in reply to the toast of his health, said:—He had often been twitted with putting cricketers to the fore in the Government Service. He was not the sort of man to be moved from his course by what people said; he was always ready to stick up for his own opinion. It had been said with much truth that a great battle was won on the playing fields of Eton. That was only one school out of many where boys received invaluable training on the cricket field. There had lately been a chance of war with France and he must say that in the event of war he would far rather be in a tight place with men who were cricketers than with men who were not. He had never known a man who was a lazy indifferent fellow and a good cricketer.

Under the heading of "an eruption of domelets," the Hongkong correspondent of the N.C. Daily News writes:—The City of Victoria is undergoing an eruption of small domes and spirelets. The new Club inaugurated the disease by a breaking out of three small domes of the pepper-box type, not ineffective, but why three? A vast and truly imposing building designed for mercantile offices has now arisen on the new Praya Reclamation which is not only adorned with a small dome at each corner, but boasts a quite imposing one in the centre of its Praya elevation. Another building, likewise intended for offices, has risen next to, and greatly overtops Butterfield and Swire's elegant premises, and from each corner of this lofty structure horn-like excrescences are commencing to obtrude. The foundations of another huge block, also on the Reclamation, have been laid, and this building will also rejoice in sundry turrets or domes. Even in purely domestic architecture the fashion is beginning to intrude, for a villa with a small spire is now shewing up from the McDonnell Road.

ARRIVAL OF THE NEW GOVERNOR.

THE SWEARING IN CEREMONY.

A BRILLIANT SPECTACLE.

The new Governor of Hongkong, Sir Henry Blake, G.C.M.G., accompanied by Lady Blake, Miss Blake, and Mr. Lee Norman (private secretary pro. tem.), arrived by the P. and O. steamer Coromandel yesterday morning and was accorded a hearty reception. It was close on nine o'clock when the vessel was signalled, and about an hour later she, gay with bunting, entered the harbour, and was met by the Hon. T. Sercombe Smith (Acting Colonial Secretary) in the Government launch Victoria. In the meantime a large and representative company of ladies and gentlemen had assembled on Queen's Statue wharf and vicinity, including members of the Legislative Council, the Justices of the Peace, the members of the Civil Service, officers of the army and navy, and the various Consuls. The spectacle presented was a most brilliant one. The wharf, which was carpeted with scarlet cloth, had been prettily decorated. The poles were festooned with red and white, and a profusion of plants and flowers had also been called into requisition. A guard of honour composed of a detachment of the Hongkong Regiment in their striking uniform was drawn up on the Praya, and the Band of the Regiment was also in attendance.

At about 20 to 11 the fact that His Excellency had left the Coromandel was heralded by the firing of a salute from the Commodore's ship, the Tamar, and the shore battery, and soon afterwards the Victoria, with the British flag flying fore and aft, made her appearance. Lieut.-Col. the O'Gorman greeted His Excellency on the steps of the wharf, bidding him and Lady Blake and Miss Blake "Welcome to Hongkong," a welcome which was warmly seconded on their mounting the wharf landing by the late Acting Governor (Major-General Wilsone Black, C.B.) At the same time the guard of honour saluted and the band struck up with "God save the Queen." His Excellency was introduced to a number of the gentleman present, including the Lord Bishop of the Diocese (the Right Rev. J. C. Hoare, M.A.), the Roman Catholic Bishop (the Right Rev. L. M. Piazzoli), the Chief Justice (Sir John Carrington, Kt., D.C.L., C.M.G.), the Puisne Judge (Mr. Justice Wise), Captain Sir Edward Chichester (of the Immortalite), and others.

His Excellency and Major-General Black then led the way to the Government Offices, the route being lined by European and Sikh members of the Police Force, in charge of the Hon. F. H. May, C.M.G. (Captain Superintendent of Police), and Deputy Superintendent Mackie. A guard of honour from the King's Own awaited His Excellency at the Government Offices. On entering the Council Chamber, where many ladies and gentlemen had already taken up positions, Major-General Black escorted the new Governor to the presidential chair and then seated himself on his right hand, the Chief Justice, in his gown and wig, being on the left. The members of the Legislative Council occupied their usual seats round the table, those present being the Hon. T. Sercombe Smith (Acting Colonial Secretary), the Hon. H. E. Pollock (Acting Attorney-General), the Hon. R. Murray Ramsay (Harbour Master), the Hon. F. H. May, C.M.G. (Captain Superintendent of Police), the Hon. A. M. Thomson (Acting Colonial Treasurer), the Hon. R. D. Ormsby (Director of Public Works), the Hon. C. P. Chater, C.M.G., the Hon. Dr. Ho Kai, the Hon. E. R. Belilios, C.M.G., the Hon. J. J. Bell-Irving, and the Hon. Wei A Yuk.

The CHIEF JUSTICE read Her Majesty's Commission as follows:—

VICTORIA, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith, Empress of India; to Our trusty and well-beloved Sir Henry Arthur Blake, Knight Grand Cross of our most distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, greeting:

We do by this our Commission under our Sign Manual and Signet appoint you, the said Sir Henry Arthur Blake, to be during Our pleasure Our Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Our colony of Hongkong and its dependencies, with all the powers, rights, privileges, and advantages to the said office belonging or appertaining.

II. And We do hereby authorise, empower, and command you to exercise and perform all and singular the powers and directions contained in Our Letters Patent under the Great Seal of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland constituting the office of Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Our said colony and its dependencies, bearing date at Westminster the 19th day of January, 1888, or in any other Our Letters Patent adding to, amending, or substituted for the same, according to such orders and instructions as Our said Governor and Commander-in-Chief for the time being hath already received from Us, and to such further orders and instructions as you may hereafter receive from Us.

III. And, further, We do hereby appoint that, as soon as you shall have taken the prescribed oaths and have entered upon the duties of your office, this Our present Commission shall supersede Our Commission under Our Sign Manual and Signet, bearing date the 24th day of July, 1891, appointing Our trusty and well-beloved Sir William Robinson, Knight Commander of Our most distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George (now Knight Grand Cross of Our said most distinguished Order), to be Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Our said colony and its dependencies.

IV. And We do hereby command all and singular Our officers, ministers, and loving subjects in Our said colony and its dependencies, and all others whom it may concern, to take due notice hereof, and to give their ready obedience accordingly.

Given at Our Court at Saint James's this 11th day of December, 1897, in the fifty-first year of Our reign.

By Her Majesty's Command,
J. CHAMBERLAIN.

HIS EXCELLENCY then took the oaths, which were administered by the Chief Justice, a salute being fired and the band of the King's Own playing the national anthem.

HIS EXCELLENCY then said—General Black, ladies and gentlemen: I wish to say with what pleasure I find myself at last in Hongkong after a considerable delay. I wish you to understand that I enter upon the duties of Governor of this colony with a deep sense of the importance of this great centre of trade, and I hope that during my administration of the colony its interests will not suffer at my hands. (Applause.) I can assure you anything I can do will be done to forward the interests of the colony of Hongkong. (Applause.)

HIS EXCELLENCY then left the building for Government House, the route being lined with Chinese constables.

THE NEW SANITARY ORDINANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR,—The Hon. F. H. May when introducing the proposed "Insanitary Properties Ordinance, 1898" at the Council meeting on Tuesday last said in the course of his remarks "that perhaps no more important measure has ever been brought before the Council than this Bill," and having had an opportunity of perusing the proposed Ordinance I am of opinion he was perfectly correct in making such a statement. In his subsequent remarks he shewed that he was thoroughly acquainted with the details of the Ordinance, in fact much more so than the official who draughted the Bill. This Ordinance, should it pass the Council in its present form, will be most drastic in its operations, and will in very many cases depreciate some of the most valuable properties in the colony, to an extent not realized by the promoters of the Ordinance or even by the majority of the owners of property in the colony; in fact very many houses and shops in the most important business localities of the city will be obliterated altogether, and this without compensation of any kind being made to the owners of the property affected.

It must be remembered that all the ground in the colony was originally sold by Government at public auction sales, and under no special conditions. The buildings subsequently erected were built in accordance with the laws and regulations for the time being, so that if any one is at fault for the present state of affairs, it is the Government.

The proposed alterations and amendments in this new Ordinance are exceedingly good in theory and would be very desirable if applied to houses erected on ground purchased from the Crown after the passing of the Ordinance; as it is, I have no hesitation in saying it is practically unworkable in some of its principal points. For instance (among many others) take the large block of houses on the south side of Jervois Street and between that street and Queen's Road (and this is about the most valuable property in the city, having been sold at the rate of about $34.00 per square foot.) All these houses are comparatively shallow in depth; they are two stories in height on the Jervois Street side; on the top of these houses there are other two storey houses fronting Queen's Road, the shop fronts of which are over the back of the Jervois Street houses. Should this Ordinance be passed and "an open area in rear" be made to the Jervois Street houses (which houses at the present time cannot be used as "habitations" under bye-law No. 14 made under powers invested in the Board by Section 13 of Ordinance 15 of 1894, and dated 17th May, 1897) in accordance with the provisions of this new Ordinance, it means that all the houses on the Queen's Road side will be of no further use, either as shops or dwelling houses, owing to the before-mentioned area having to be carried up, clear and unobstructed, through what is now the front of the Queen's Road shops, thus reducing this property at least 50 per cent. in value. Then again, there are many small irregular shaped shops in this important district such for instance as say Nos. 23 to 33 Hillier Street, 6 to 12 Morrison Street, 1 to 5 Cleverly Street, and many more I could name, (i. e., shops with a good moderate frontage but no depth), in which, should areas of the size proposed be made at the back of these houses, there will be no houses left at all, being all or nearly all merged in the new areas.

During the last year, the Sanitary Board have considerably improved a very great number of insanitary houses in the city, especially "back to back" houses, in a very quiet and tactful manner, by getting owners to construct clear open areas at the back of their houses. Now, should this Ordinance be passed, they will have to considerably increase these areas (as pointed out by Mr. May), putting themselves to additional expense, and in many cases doing away with their kitchens altogether for which they get no quid pro quo.

The curtailment of these and other houses is to be done by and at the cost of the house owner, without any compensation being paid him for the great depreciation of his property. On this matter, I beg to refer you to "The Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1894" at home, which Act is in operation throughout the whole of Great Britain and Ireland, and is the Act corresponding to this proposed and several other Ordinances in the colony, referring to insanitary properties. This home Act states how insanitary properties are to be dealt with. If property has to be resumed it states the mode of acquiring such property, and how it is to be valued, "due regard being had to the nature and then conditions of the property, and the probable duration of the buildings in their existing state, and to the state of repair thereof, without any additional allowance in respect of the compulsory purchase of an area or any part of an area"—section 21 (a) and section 41 (2). Again, section 36 (1) states "Where any owner has completed, in respect of any dwelling-house any works required to be executed by an order of a local authority under this part of this Act, he may apply to the local authority for a charging order, and shall produce to the local authority the certificate of their surveyor or engineer that the works have been executed to his satisfaction, and also the accounts of and vouchers for the costs, charges, and expenses of the works, and the local authority, when satisfied that the owner has duly executed such works, and of the amount of such costs, charges, and expenses, and of the costs of obtaining the charging order, which have been properly incurred, shall make an order accordingly, charging on the dwelling-house an annuity to repay the amount. (2.) The annuity charged shall be a sum of six pounds for every one hundred pounds of the said amount and so in proportion for any less sum, and shall commence from the date of the order, and be payable for a term of thirty years to the owner named in such order, his executors, administrators, or assigns."

Thus shewing that under this Act owners at home are entitled to compensation. Such being the case, I venture to ask, why should not the owners of property in Hongkong receive compensation in like manner? I am not personally interested in Chinese property as an owner, but it is a well known fact that the many irritating sections of the Sanitary Board (who have, I admit, done excellent work) is driving capital out of this colony to an extent not realized; for instance, the wealthy Societies like the Mission Estrangers and the Spanish Procuration have given up investing money in Hongkong, preferring to do so in Shanghai.

In the matter of the height of the partitions in cubicles—section 4 (d.)—six feet is, in my opinion, much too low. The cubicles referred to are really small bedrooms or chambers, and should the respective partitions be only six feet high (as proposed in certain cases), there will be no privacy in them. Any one standing on a chair rail or small box, saying nothing about standing on the bed itself, will be able to look over into the adjoining cubicle and see everything going on therein. In my opinion there is not the slightest occasion to alter the existing regulations on this subject. At present partitions in cubicles cannot be of a greater height than eight feet, in addition to which, in every case there must be irrespective of the height of the room a clear space of four feet between the top of the partition and the underside of the joists of the room. The usual height of rooms, other than the ground floor (in which no cubicles or partitions are allowed except "shop divisions,") is about 14 feet, so that there is now (or ought to be) a clear space of say six feet between the top of the partition and the underside of the floor joist of the room above. In the case of cubicles on the top floors, there being no ceilings in these rooms, the open space above the top of the partitions extends up to the underside of the roof tiles.

The proposed Ordinance in many other respects is open to improvement. In many sections the meaning is so vague and uncertain you do not begin to grasp it till you have repeatedly re-read them. There are several words whose meaning is not defined, which ought to be done. The want of such meanings or definitions has led to many arguments in the Courts and other places. Among the words I more specially refer to are such as:—"Ping fang" (shop divisions), cubicle, cockloft, mezzanine floor, intermediate floor (it will be very useful and interesting to know the definition of these two words used so often in the Sanitary regulations, as a mezzanine floor is an intermediate floor and vice versa.)

Section 6 refers to the width of houses. It does not state how this width is to be measured. Is it to be the clear inside width of the house, or the distance from centre to centre of the adjoining walls?

Section 6 (b) is the correct and common sense way of measuring the depth of a house.

I respectfully suggest that all property owners in the colony should join in a combined petition to H.E. the Governor, stating their views on the subject of this proposed Ordinance, and also that His Excellency would be pleased to have it so altered and amended as to be brought more in line and in accordance with the English Acts referring to insanitary dwellings.

—Yours truly,

The annual dinner of the Shanghai Branch of the China Association took place at the Shanghai Club on the 19th November, Mr. C. J. Dudgeon, Chairman of the Association, presiding, with Lord Charles Beresford, C.B., R.N., the guest of the evening, on his right, and Sir N. J. Hannen, Chief Judge of the Supreme Court, on his left hand. Mr. E. F. Alford, Vice-Chairman of the Association, was in the vice-chair, with Mr. Byron Brenan, C.M.G., British Consul-General, on his right, and Captain Pottinger, R.A., on his left hand.

The proceedings were so protracted, Lord Charles Beresford speaking for an hour, to the great delight of his audience, who would willingly have heard him at still greater length, that we can only give this morning in full the speech made by his lordship. The first toast was "The Queen," proposed by the Chairman, and drunk with the greatest enthusiasm to the strains of "God save the Queen!" by the band. The second toast was "The Navy, Army, and Auxiliary Forces," proposed by the Vice-Chairman, Capt. Coobran, R.N., replied for the Navy, Capt. Pottinger, R.A., in an extremely well-conceived and well-delivered speech, for the army, and Major B. A. Clarke, S.V.C., for the auxiliary forces. Then came the health of the guest of the evening, Lord Charles Beresford, proposed by the Chairman in a very neat speech.

Lord Charles Beresford, who on rising was received with continued cheering, said—Mr. Dudgeon, and gentlemen of the China Association, I have to thank you, Sir, very warmly for the remarks that you made when proposing my health, and I have also to thank you, gentlemen, for the undoubtedly enthusiastic way in which you received them. I had not intended to make any remarks during my cruise round the British communities in this country; I was going to reserve those remarks for a proper report to the Associated Chambers of Commerce, also to the Cabinet, and even to a more important body—the electorate of our great country at home. (Hear, hear.) You spoke of hard work, Sir, but that was my business, and it is the business of every Britisher never to undertake to do a thing unless he does it with all his might and main and to the best of his ability. But I think that this is the first time that your great trading communities of this country have had a fair chance of placing your views, why you hold them, what you fear, and why you fear it in the future, before the great electorate of the people at home. (Hear, hear.) I am very well aware that your Consuls have sent many trade reports home; I am very well aware that this great and powerful association has sent very many resolutions home, but, so far as I can gather, these reports and resolutions have been relegated to some of those pigeon-holes where so many things are forgotten. (Hear, hear.) So far as my mission goes, I dare say you know what my reference was. It was to come out here to find out the ideas of the trading communities, how far they thought they could develop the British trade at present going on, and more than all, what security they can have for the future of their property, or indeed their lives, in this country. (Cheers.) I do not disguise from you or from myself that I find a unanimous opinion among these British communities—an opinion that is based on great anxiety, considerable nervousness as to the future, and considerable doubt as to whether any of them will invest additional money for further development of their trade on account of there being no security for the future. I have taken a very strong line on this question in England, both in the House and in the country. Perhaps I exaggerate, but I do believe if our country is going to allow our people to be squeezed out of China, or if we continue our trade without further developing it, I do believe it will be the beginning of the end of our great empire. (Cheers.) Therefore I hold that the interests of the Far East are immeasurably superior to the interests of the Near East. But there is this point to be remembered, that the people at home are most crassly ignorant of the situation of things in China. I cannot quite blame them for that because I must plead guilty myself, to being one of those ignorant persons before I came out here and consulted those people who know the facts in this country. But I would respectfully submit to you that in many parts of our great empire circumstances occur, as in China, when people come to believe that the British empire is centred in that locality. Therefore I would say, with great respect, though we have felt very warmly towards the Cabinet and country, we must look at things broadly and as affecting the empire. The empire is a very large one, and difficulties have to be contended with in various countries. The Cabinet have considerable difficulties on the north-west frontier of India, the west coast of Africa, in Jamaica, in British Guiana, the Cape, and lately in the Soudan, as to which the military officer (Captain Pottinger) has made a most excellent speech. But let me point this out; would it have been quite wise of our Cabinet, at a moment when there might have been a doubt as to the ultimate success of that expedition—supposing some one had made a mistake, and what was a brilliant victory had been, I will not say a defeat, but a reverse, we should have had to send large reinforcements to make the thing secure—would it have been wise, I say, for the Cabinet to have embarked on some great enterprise in this country? I do not think it would have been wise, but this I will say, that all these questions have been more or less settled now, and so far as my endeavours go, if you will only support me, I will do all I can to make my countrymen see that they have got to do something in this country, and that we cannot go on with the policy of drift, as we have been doing. (Loud cheers.) There is another point I must mention relative to the case in Crete. I as a naval officer feel, and my brother naval officers will join with me in finding the most supreme satisfaction that a bold, frank and honest seaman has settled the difficulty which has puzzled the whole of Europe and all its Cabinets. I refer to Admiral Noel. (Cheers.) One word more on this question. With regard to your Ministers in China, I would respectfully submit to your Press here—I know it is very dangerous to attack the Press, because the Press always has the last word, but I am not, being an Irishman, very careful whom I attack if I get a thing in my head (laughter)—I would ask the Press in all fairness to remember that it is not quite the way to win an action to attack the agent. Attack the principal, not the agent; pitch into the Cabinet and Government, but, after all, we do not know what your agent's orders are, what the British Ministers orders are. He may be wanting, like a good horse to go straight over the country, take all the obstacles, and go a galloping pace, but happens to have a nervous rider on his back who funks the fences, jobs him in the mouth, and brings him down. (Laughter and cheers.) With regard to your Minister, you will agree with me here that he is the first Minister you have had that understands this point, that he is not only here, for diplomatic action, to write dispatches and protocols, but that he is here in the interest of trade and commerce as well. I venture to believe you have not had a Minister, and you will not have a Minister, who will be better than Sir Claude Macdonald in recognising that our interests in the East are those of trade and commerce. What I have endeavoured to do here is to find out from the communities wherever I have been what they want, why they want it; what they fear, why they fear it; and what they think the best methods for remedy for what may occur in the future. I have been very kindly treated by every body. I have got an enormous amount of information, some, perhaps, more or less contradictory (laughter), but, on the whole, I believe I have got a long way towards getting into my mind what the people out here who know their business and trade think themselves, so that I can focus it and let the electorate know at home. With regard to your trade I believe I am right in saying at present it is very good. I have got no complaints to go home with. There may be some individual industries that will not agree with this, but the volume of trade as I understand it is not at all bad at present. I also believe that, so far as development goes, people are not inclined at all to do anything to develop their trade largely because they do not see what policy the Government is going to put forward at home, and, as far as security for trade and commerce goes, both from what I have been able to learn, and also from what I can see for myself, I would say there is absolutely none in this country whatever. There are two things to my mind that loom very black in the near future for trade and commerce in China. One is the dominant and military position of Russia in the North, and the other is the absolutely affate condition of the Government of this country with regard to the four hundred million inhabitants which they can in no way control, while at any moment, if you put up stores or trade centres in the country, they may be destroyed or burnt, and the government of this country will have no control over those who do it. Those are two great points I see in the future, and if I am wrong perhaps someone will correct me. Now, with regard to Russia, I have said in the House of Commons, and I say here, I have no blame whatever to attach to Russia: I think that every Government of a country is bound to use every effort it can in the direction it thinks is for the interest of its commerce and people, but what I do say is this, and say strongly, that, while other countries take these precautions and use this efforts, we must be very careful that they do nothing that will hurt our interests. I know that Russia has moved by leaps and bounds into positions that are 1,200 miles further than they were twelve months ago, and one of the curious features I have found here is that nobody is so astonished as the Russians to find themselves in the position they are in at present. (Hear, hear.) I do not think it wise to say what has been or what might have been; it is always better to say what is and see what we are to do in the future, but with regard to Russia, if I were a Russian I should use the very best efforts I could to place myself in Peking and then the Yangtze, provided I had no more opposition than they have found at present in getting to Newchwang and Port Arthur. What did I find at Newchwang? I was alarmed to find the British community there rather hapless. They were sitting down and saying: "Now what do you think we will get out of our property when Russia owns Manchuria? Do you think Russia will allow us to do this and that? Would you take home a resolution to say that we hope Russia will allow us this and that?" I remarked, we do not hold the British empire by such feminine policy as that. (Cheers.) I said: "Sit down and draft a strong resolution to the Government and tell them how things are, and if you want some definite and declared policy say what you that portion was called the Yangtze valley. I have been puzzled, however, to know what the Yangtze valley means, and nobody has been able to tell me. I asked the question on two occasions in the House of Commons, because I thought any way we have got something we can fall back upon, we have got a sphere of influence. I wanted to know the latitude and longitude, but I got the usual official reply. Still I was convinced we had a sphere of influence until I came out here. When I examine the Yangtze valley on the chart I am very much puzzled, and it is most difficult to find out what it means. Would it include Shansi and Yunnan? I cannot find out what the Yangtze valley is, and when I come to the "sphere of influence" I am amazed to find that there is no such thing whatever. What has taken in the British public—it certainly took in your humble servant—is the dispatch which was put before the House of Commons, dated the 11th of February, 1898. This dispatch was from the Chinese Government in answer to one from Sir Claude Macdonald. It ran: "The British Minister would be glad to be in a position to communicate to their Majesty's Government a definite assurance that China would never alienate any territory in the provinces adjoining the Yangtze to any other Power." "To any other Power" would naturally lead one to suppose that meant to any other Power but Great Britain, and that we were the Power to have such sphere of influence, but when I questioned Sir Claude Macdonald I found that it is nothing of the sort and that we are included in the other Powers. So as matters are we have not got one single sod in China which belongs to us as a "sphere of influence," although the people at home think they have, barring the lease of Weihaiwei, and the addition to Hongkong at Mirs Bay. What is the position of other countries? I think we may say, without exaggeration, Russia has got a very extensive sphere of influence; I think we may say Germany has; but the Great British nation, with 68 per cent. of the whole trade in its hands, has no sphere of influence, and so far as the North is concerned, there is no open door. Is that the position we are to remain in? I think not. (Loud cheers.) There is no doubt, to my mind, what Russia has in her mind, and I again say she is quite right if she can do it—she has in her mind that her sphere of influence will shortly extend to Peking. On the other hand the French sphere of influence comes in under a term which I could never understand called the hinterland, and the hinterland in the South happens to border on Hongkong. How that will do I do not know—well I rather do know. (Laughter and cheers.) You must remember our neighbours in France are very much addicted to hinterland. (Laughter.) They took a very large amount of hinterland in Africa, and, as far as I can make out, the hinterland, as applied to Africa, certainly means the whole country except the port. (Laughter.) I referred just now to the position of the Chinese government, and, so far as we can see at present it is absolutely powerless to control the people. I am not one of those who think they know everything about China because I am here from Saturday to Monday (laughter), but I have formed an opinion of the people and it is based on what many of you have told me. I am assured that the word of the Chinese trader is as good as his bond, and from what I am told I believe there is a great deal of good in China. Then as to their being fighting men, I need only refer to Ikotanga, General Tso, Admiral Ting, and the Hongkong coolies who showed what they could do on the scaling ladder at Taku. You must not judge them by the Japanese war. Men have told me that they saw coolies being given guns and rifles of every continental pattern, with any kind of ammunition from muzzle-loading to pistol. What would you do under the circumstances? I myself should beat a masterly retreat to the rear. (Laughter.) I am as certain as I stand here if the men were only regularly paid, properly fed and clothed, they would follow Europeans just the same as we have seen in Egypt and elsewhere. (Applause.) As to the mandarins, I do not think any language could be too strong to apply to their system. But I want to know what I should do if I were ordered to govern fifty million people, keep them contented, and look after them in every way, being told that I am to get no salary, but that I have to pay an enormous sum for being appointed to office. How on earth can I do anything else but squeeze? But I believe if you could pay the mandarins proper salaries and let them occupy their places as long as they governed properly, with perhaps an odd threat that if they did not their heads would come off, I believe you would have a very good government in this country. My view of the future is that we should induce the Chinese Government to allow British officers to reorganise their army. I believe if their army were properly organised it would be an ample security for the prosperity of the country and a benefit to all nations. (Applause.) One more word as to the action of the Government at home. I can assure you that I do not believe such a thing as the Kowshing case could have happened to the American or German flag without that case being settled long ago. That case should have been settled a long time ago, and I shall make that case particularly my own when I get home, and try and see why it is not settled. Then there is a case of a pilot cutter that was run down by a steamer. The steamer was so palpably in the wrong that I cannot understand why the case was given against the cutter. That is a case which should be probed to the bottom, and I believe the steamer would have to pay. Then there is the case of the Bank of China and Japan in which certain shareholders, I believe they were Chinese, agreed not only to the articles of association but signed a separate agreement to be bound in any dispute by English law. I am afraid I am detaining you a long time. ("No, no.") I have continually been told that our policy has broken down. I, however, respectfully disagree with that. We have had no policy to break down. (Hear, hear.) What we want is a definite policy which we and other nations may understand. You must remember every diplomatic defeat we suffer affects our trade in this country more than it does in other countries because in the East we live undoubtedly by prestige and our prestige has suffered to an alarming extent if it has not gone altogether. I think you will agree with me that our efforts should be to restore that prestige. One more point. I hope I have not been misunderstood in anything I have said as thinking that we should mark any more of the chart red; but we can assist the Chinese to get their house into order, to have an army properly led, policing the country, and protecting the trade of all nations. I believe that one of the first things our government should do is to endeavour to get a commercial alliance between our country, Germany, America, and Japan. (Applause.) The foundation and object of such an alliance would be a fair field and no favour; would be the integrity of China as it is, and would be the open door trade policy for all nations. With that, and an adequate army for police purposes, I believe this country would go on and prosper. Certainly, if we do not do that we shall be driven out of the country or we shall have to fight; in which case we shall fight at a disadvantage and then not be able to recover what we had lost. This is my firm conviction. I am obliged to you gentlemen, for having listened to my remarks. My concluding words are these, that I believe the time for action has come. There is no necessity for war, for peace is our greatest interest, but as sure as we go on drifting we shall come to war. If we do take this question in hand together with those nations I have mentioned I believe there will be no war, but peace and prosperity, and your trade in this country will be amply secured in the future. (Loud cheers, during which Lord Charles resumed his seat.)

Lord Charles's speech was constantly interrupted by loud and prolonged cheering, and the greatest enthusiasm was displayed when his lordship resumed his seat. The next toast was "Our Guests," proposed very discursively by Mr. G. J. Morrison, who coupled with it the name of Sir Nicholas J. Hannen, whose reply was neat and to the point and was heartily cheered. The last official toast was "The China Association," introduced by the Chairman in a really excellent speech, in the course of which he proposed the following forcible resolution, which was seconded by the Vice-Chairman, and carried by acclamation:—

"That this Branch of China Association views with the greatest concern the apparent apathy, indifference, and lack of knowledge displayed by our Home Government as to the true state of affairs in China, and as to the positions of advantage which are being secured by other Powers, to which no counterpoise has yet been obtained. That this Branch holds that any submission on the part of Great Britain to foreign dictation as to the terms of commercial contracts involves loss of prestige which is necessarily prejudicial to the security of British trade and commerce in China. Further that this Branch is convinced that the commercial and political situations cannot be separated, and that in order to prevent British Treaty rights being frittered away, it is necessary that Her Majesty's Government should define on clear and definite lines the policy of Great Britain in this country, and the limits beyond which territorial aggression shall not be permitted; finally that such policy must be supported by strong and decided action, and that endeavours should be made to secure the co-operation of those Great Powers which have similar aims and interests."

The last toast was the health of the Chairman, proposed by Mr. E. A. Probst and most enthusiastically honoured. It was now more than half-an-hour after midnight, and the large gathering melted rapidly away.—N. C. Daily News.

DR. KNORR'S

ANTIPYRINE

Patented

"LION BRAND."

In Powder and Crystals, also in Drops of 5 grains, easily soluble in Water, Wine, etc.

FEVER, RHEUMATIC & NEURALGIC AFFECTIONS.

NERVOUS AFFECTIONS.

ARGONIN.

(REGISTERED TRADE MARK.)

SOLUBLE CASEIN-SILVER PREPARATION.

Used in Gonorrhœa in 1 to 2 per cent. solutions possesses similar bactericide action to silver nitrate, but is distinguished by complete absence of irritating properties.

It is requested that the directions on the boxes for making solutions shall be implicitly followed.

DR. OVERLACH'S

MIGRANINE

(ANTIPYRIN-CAFFEINE CITRATE.)

(1) Excellent results in the SEVEREST CASES OF MIGRAINE, as well as in HEADACHE ARISING FROM ALCOHOLIC, NICOTINE, AND MORPHIA POISONING, NEURASTHENIA, INFLUENZA, GRIPPE, &c.

(2) The BEST ANTIPYRETIC, even in threatened collapse, because the caffeine of Migraine acts simultaneously as an ANALEPTIC.

☞ Use only DR. OVERLACH'S MIGRAINE, "Lion Brand," and always prescribe "MIGRAININE HOECHST."

The best medium dose for adults is 17 grains given once or twice daily in powder or in solution.
